

Sir,

Having contributed to the seemingly endless Senate Inquiries, always ending with a stalemate from Treasury I find it appropriate to be succinct.

ASIC in it's current form and with it's current mismanagement has to go.

ASIC has been found wanting on too many occasions and in too many areas of it's professed area of responsibilities.

Some- one must be held responsible for this agencies failure!

Look at the failures with the IP trade notably Ariff.

Look at the failure with CBA .

Look at failure with Storm.

Look at the failure with Bank West.

Look at the failure with Macquarie.

Look at D'Aloisioo firmly ensconced at PPB having taken an asset of a vienyard off market from another IP.

Why are we so disgusted with the Obeid charade when it plays out in full view here and now?

When will some-one in Government develop the spine to take on this corruption?

Best Regards,

Bill Doherty
